“TRX Cymbal Co® Bells Ring, School Reform is in session”

Occupy Philly makes Education a high priority with the launch of the Philadelphia Education Reform Committee

Philadelphia Pa, December 12, 2011—(Education Reform): Occupy Philly, during their December 7th General Assembly, announced the launch of the Philadelphia Education Reform Committee and its immediate actions. Chaired by Education Reform advocate Christopher “Flood the Drummer®” Norris, the committee will focus on acquiring fair and adequate funding for Philadelphia Schools via Resolution 110462, abolishing the School Reform Commission via Senate Bill 1210 and lobbying to allow social service and nonprofit organizations to co-locate into the schools for easier engagement. Long term goals of the committee include but not limit, developing new ideas and technologies that will increase residents’ access to relevant content, news and information. The committee has announced they will hold an official Press Conference in the very near future to introduce the committee members and its partners.
